

Applicants will need to pass the university entrance examination in addition to proceeding their application for AFLSP.

A variety of English medium programs are offered in Kyoto University, and the details of admission procedures differ depending on the graduate school. The overview of admission for each programs are as shown below. Please carefully check the application deadline, as some need to be applied before AFLSP application. As the application periods are subject to change, please be advised to check the website for the updated information.

Moreover, all applicants* are required to go through AAO screening process prior to applying directly to the graduate school. AAO is an online application system provided free of charge. Those who are interested are recommended to start their AAO application, preferably a few months before the application deadline. <https://u.kyoto-u.jp/graduate-admissions-for-overseas-graduates>

*Exception: applicants to the Graduate School of Informatics do not need to go through AAO process
