| Institution | SORBONNE UNIVERSITE - Faculty of Science and Engineering Covering all fields of knowledge in science and engineering, the Faculty is dedicated to research at the heart of disciplines and to multidisciplinary approaches to meet the major challenges of the 21st century. Academic excellence is driven by its professor-researchers and partner researchers, whose research contributes to the quality of the education provided by the faculty. The Faculty of Science and Engineering, with its 22,000 students, covers many scientific disciplines divided into 6 academic and research departments (UFR): Biology, Chemistry, Engineering, Mathematics, Physics, Earth Sciences, Environment & Biodiversity, as well as its 3 marine stations. The Faculty also includes the Polytech Sorbonne engineering school, the Paris Astrophysics Institute and the Henri Poincaré Institute. We count with 72 laboratories on the Faculty. They are located mainly on the Pierre & Marie Curie campus in Paris and at 3 marine stations in Roscoff, Banyuls-sur-Mer and Villefranche-sur-Mer. The laboratories are in partnership with national organizations such as CNRS, INSERM, INRIA, CEA and IRD and/or academic partners such as Université Paris Cité, ENS, the Collège de France the Observatory of Paris and the ESPCI. The Faculty also has numerous institutes and laboratories of excellence. |
