BUSINESS ENTREPRENEURSHIP IN THE START-UP NATION AND THE CHANGING MIDDLE EAST

The Tel Aviv University Business Entrepreneurship in the Start-Up Nation and the Changing Middle East summer program offers an outstanding opportunity for students to analyze business entrepreneurship in the context of a world in constant revolution.

Beyond the two top level academic courses, students will participate in an exciting social and cultural program.

BUSINESS ENTREPRENEURSHIP: ISRAEL AS A CASE STUDY

Dr. Gil Avnimelech (4 credits)

The purpose of this course is to explore the many dimensions of new innovative venture creation, development and financing. We will deal with issues such as sources of ideas, type of opportunities, idea development, IP protection, business plan writing, business model design, stages of start-up development, lean startup approach, and sources of finance for new innovative ventures. The examples and cases presented in the course will be taken from the Israeli context. The course will include guest lecturers from the Israeli high tech industry.

In the introduction module we present the entrepreneur's role in the global economy as an agent of change and accelerator of innovation and economic development. This module will build the theoretical foundation of the course. The second module deals with sources of ideas, opportunity identification, and idea development. The third module deals with market analysis, business planning, and business model design. The fourth module discusses the unique characteristics of start-up companies and its implications on development and strategy. In this module we will introduce the lean startup approach. The last module presents the venture capital market including business angles, crowdfunding platforms, accelerators and technological incubators, venture capital funds, and corporate VC. We will discuss the characteristics of each type of investor, the advantages and disadvantages for the start-ups of being financed by different types of investors.

Courses are subject to change. For information and updated dates please refer to our website.
